The Coal Strike.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—There is no change in the strike of coal handlers. The companies have many men at work and state that the back bone of the strike is broken.

INTER-STATE TRADE.

A Talk With President Hughart, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway, on the Inter-State Commerce Bill—Its Effect on the Road in Which the City Has $100,000.

"What have you to say about the inter-state commerce bill?" was asked by a reporter of President Hughart, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, who has just returned from a pleasant visit to Florida.

"The bill, should it become a law, as it probably will," said Mr. Hughart, "will be far reaching in its results on railroads and business. If the regulation in regard to the long and short haul means that the railroads must charge a stated price per ton per mile, regardless of the distance freight is transported, it cannot help but have a depressing effect upon the jobbing business of the country. For instance, we charge the lumber jobber seven mills per ton per mile to carry lumber from Grand Rapids to Cincinnati, a distance of 308 miles, but we could not afford to carry lumber at any such rate to a place six miles distant. The result will be that we will be compelled to charge the jobber who has a long haul a higher rate to compensate us for carrying for the jobber who has a small haul at a lower rate. In other words, the man who has a large business in which competition is sharp will be compelled to help pay the freight of the man who has a small business in which there is little or no competition. The Grand Rapids and Indiana will be quite seriously affected, because we have to compete in the summer with lake transportation; and if we cannot get the benefit of the long haul, it will be impossible for us to meet the competition without jeopardizing the interests of our shippers. Some of the advocates of the bill claim that the proper construction of the provisions regarding the long and short haul is that the railroads must not make a larger charge for a short haul than for a long one. So you see it is rather difficult to discuss the question intelligently."

GREEN SMITH

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 19.—A compromise has been reached by which Senator Smith will preside over the joint convention, but Speaker Sayre will hold the gavel. The convention is now in session and nominating speeches are being made.

Senator Huston nominated General Harrison and was seconded by General Gaiffiths. Representative Niblack nominated Mr. Turpie. Representative Glover nominated Mr. Allen and was seconded by Mr. Robinson.

During the morning Lieutenant Governor Elect Robertson appeared in the house closely followed by Sheriff King and three deputies who kept a close watch for the purpose of preventing any violation of the restraining order granted by Judge Ayres.

FIRST BALLOT.

3 p. m.—The first ballot resulted:—Senate—Harrison, 18, Turpie 32.

In the house—Harrison 53, Turpie 43, Allen 4.

Total—Turpie 75, Harrison 71, Allen 4.

Another ballot will be taken, the joint convention refusing by a vote of 76 to 74, to adjourn.

SECOND BALLOT AND ADJOURNMENT.

3:30 p. m.—The second ballot showed no change and the convention adjourned until to-morrow.

Seventy-six are necessary to a choice, and as the Allen men declare their determination to fight it out on this line if it takes all winter, it will be seen that the prospect for an immediate election is not flattering.

THE VOTING YESTERDAY.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the senatorial question was taken up separately. In the house Mr. Gardner nominated Senator Harrison, Mr. Kellison nominated Judge Turpie, Mr. Robinson nominated J. K. Allen, (K. of L.) The vote resulted: Harrison, 53; Turpie, 43; Allen, 4. Those voting for Allen were Glover, Cates, Mackey (republicans), and Robinson, (democrat). In the senate, at 4 o'clock, Senator Harrison was nominated by Mr. Huston, Judge Turpie was nominated by Mr. Sellers and seconded by Mr. McDonald, of Allen. The vote stood: Harrison, 18; Turpie, 32.

SENATOR MCDONALD'S SEAT.

Senator Campbell presented a resolution setting forth that the constitution provides for the election of fifty senators; that at the same time when Col. Robertson was voted for as lieutenant governor, Col. I. B. McDonald was elected joint senator from Whitley and Allen counties, when Eli Brown was a hold-over senator from the counties, therefore the constitution had been violated and there are really fifty-one state senators. Senator Brown referred to is the postmaster at Columbia City, having been appointed to such office and having served as such officer nearly two years. He has never presented his resignation as senator. The resolutions were referred to the judiciary committee and when the senate reassembled yesterday afternoon, Senator Sellers, from the judiciary committee, reported in favor of indefinitely postponing the resolution relating to the seat of Colonel McDonald, of Whitley and Allen. The report was agreed to.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 19.—In the house this morning the contested election case of Walter vs. Jones was taken up. A scene of great confusion ensued. The democrats protested against certain rulings of the speaker and stopped the proceedings by yelling at the top of their voices. Threats were made to run the speaker from the chair. While the yelling continued pages were sent in all directions to bring in absent democrats. Finally when all the absentees were brought in the noise ceased and Walters, democrat, was declared entitled to the seat and was immediately sworn in.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The two houses of the legislature met in joint convention and balloted for United States senator. It resulted: Miller, 43; Morton, 33; Hiscock, 11; Weed, 61. Adjourned until to-morrow.

AN EXPLOSION

Of Dynamite in a Miner's Trunk Wrecks a Car and Injures the Baggage Master.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 19.—The baggage car attached to the New York limited express which arrived here at 10:30 last night, was almost blown to pieces by dynamite or some other terrible explosive, a few miles east of Altoona, Pa. Baggagemaster Harry Mingers was pretty badly hurt. The trunk was put on the train at Duncannon, near Harrisburg, and was checked through to Pittsburg. Mingus was arranging the trunks in the car. He picked up a small ordinary trunk and threw it on top of some other baggage. An explosion followed which lifted the top off the car as though it was made of paper and scattered the fragements in all directions. The owner of the trunk was arrested when he presented his check. He said he was a Hungarian coal miner and that his name was John Kingman. He came from Hazelton in search of work and strenuously denied there was any explosive in the trunk.

THWARTED LOVE.

The Cook County Sheriff Says Miss Van Zandt Shall Not Marry Spies.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 19.—Sheriff Matson positively refuses to allow the marriage of Spies, the condemned anarchist, and Nina Van Zandt to take place. He says: "I am surprised that her parents have even permitted the girl to visit the jail and much more that they would consent to let her wed in prison and that they will not attempt to save their own child from the never ending shame and disgrace. I shall see that she is at least given a chance to look before she leaps. Spies is my prisoner and as such is entitled only to such privileges or liberties as I may think proper to give him. The only person to whom I am obliged to allow access to him is his lawyer."

Miss Van Zandt, the young lady, appeared quite indifferent when told of the sheriff's decision but refused to be interviewed on the subject. She was refused access to Spies this morning.

Smith to the late Senator Foote, a small portion of which was published in the Century Magazine. In the letter General Smith charges Gen. U. S. WEDNESDAY, JAN. 19, 1887.

THERE is no wealth but life. Life, including all its powers of love, of joy, and of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; and that man is richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest hopeful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.

MME. BOUCICAUT, of the Bon Marche, Paris, has given her employes, outright, a pension fund of over $1,000,000. This fund is available to all who have been in her service twenty years, provided the men are at least 50 and the women 45 years old, and not among the shareholders of the establishment. Mme. Boucicaut has in addition paid the fee which the State charges on legacies, amounting to nearly $140,000.

A MELBOURNE circular says the wheat crop promises to be a six-bushel average in South Australia and is a complete failure in the Queensland district, the rust having destroyed all hope of a yield. In the north of Australia the crop will run from thirty-five or forty bushels to the acre on a small area of irrigated land, while on dry land the yield will be only about four bushels to the acre. This is an enormous difference, and may well be supposed to furnish a powerful argument in favor of the artificial watering which has already worked such wonders in the Rocky Mountain districts of this country and the further West. The uncertainty of the rainfall in Australia appears to be the great drawback of the country to the agriculturist.

IT is found that walls laid up of good, half-burned bricks, in mortar composed of good lime and sharp sand, will resist a pressure of 1,500 pounds per square inch, or 216,000 pounds per square foot, at which figures it would require 1,600 feet highth of 12-inch wall to crush the bottom courses, allowing 135 pounds as the weight of each cubic foot. It also appears from accurate calculations and measurement that walls laid up in the same quality of brick and mortar, with one-third quantity of Portland cement added to the same, are capable of resisting some 2,500 pounds per square inch, or 360,000 pounds per square foot; this would require a height of wall 2,700 feet to crush the bottom bricks.

THE St. Petersburg Journal publishes a list of the number of doctors in Europe. Great Britain is worse off than one might have thought, judging by the length and frequency of doctors' bills. For the 35,000,000 of inhabitants there are only 25,810 medical men, that is to say, 1 to every 1,350 inhabitants. In France there is a physician to every 1,490 individuals. In Austria, Germany and Norway we find 1 doctor to every 1,500; in the United States of America 1 to every 600, while Russia is very badly served, there being but 1 doctor to every 6,226 people. The total number of doctors among the Russians is not above 15,000; even to reach the level of England 65,000 would be required.

THE Atlanta Constitution says that "the trouble with the domestic wine that has supplanted whisky in Atlanta is its procrastination. It puts off until to-morrow the drunk it should bring to-day. Few things are quicker on the trigger than the whisky with which Atlanta was wont to whoop herself up. It made you drunk with promptness and exactness. The domestic wine, on the other hand, is vague and uncertain. 'You don't know when to take it on,' said a moderate drinker 'If you load up on Saturday night, it's just as apt as not to tangle you up in church on Sunday. I comprehended a bottle the other day, and I went to dine with my wife's mother the next day. Don't you think, the fool thing took hold of me right there, and I had to prop myself to keep from sliding under the table. When a man loads up with this domestic wine he oughtn't to make an engagement until it has had its drunk out. It may wait a week, but it is dead sure to trip you up before it gives up.'"

On Getting Rich.

Every now and again some wiseacre undertakes a sermon to the workingmen in which it set forth, with a good deal of elaboration of detail, and supported by numerous "practical" illustrations, that it is possible for every man, if he be industrious and thrifty, to get into business and achieve competence for himself. The intention is to say, though they do not say it exactly in that way, that it is possible for every man to be rich. One of the leading citizens of the town will die, John Jones, for instance. The local papers will have fulsome eulogies. It will be told how he originated from "poor but respectable" parents, worked on a farm, or did odd jobs for the neighbors, saved his money, opened a little grocery store, carried in three bushels of clover seed or barrels of flour, and toted the goods round to the customers himself rather than go to the expense of hiring a man to do it for him. How he thus accumulated his first few hundred dollars. How one of his customers got in debt to him for several hundred. How he compromised by taking half the customer's farm. How coal was subsequently discovered underlying the farm. How he sold it for $15,000 hard cash. And so forth, and so forth, and so forth!

This is but one of the variations of the same old story, and the telling it is always accompanied by the same advice that what the eminent deceased did in those ways it is possible for each and every man to do. But what a howling absurdity it all is! To be sure the great majority of men are not thrifty. They are industrious. They must be to live. But they are careless in their expenditures, within a certain range. Suppose they were not. Then not half so many of the others would become rich. The recklessness of the many is the chief factor in the construction of the fortunes of the few. That is, if it can be called reckless for a man to prefer to surround himself and his family with such comforts as his means affords, rather than pinch and stint, with the hope of some day having enough to buy his neighbor's property at forced sale at half its value, and sell it to the other man with more money than wit who comes along, for twice what it is worth.

There can only be so many rich, and to make and keep them rich others must remain poor. There can only be so many bankers and grocers and dry goods men. If the supply of either comes to exceed the demand, some will be crushed out, and it is not always the least wise or the least deserving that meet that misfortune. The fact is there are too many men in such business and in all businesses now. There are even too many mechanics and factory and mine workers for the manner in which the business of the country as a whole in managed. The only one class of which there are not too many are the small farmers. Of these there can never be too many. So long as the stock of small farms hold out there can be no excess of small farmers. Farming the small farm is the basis and best of all business. It is the business the law should do the most to encourage, particularly in a country with so lavish an endowment of rich soil, unequaled anywhere in the world, as this country possesses. And, strangely enough, though the small farmers are sufficiently numerous in the country to outvote all the rest of us, if they saw fit, they are less deferred to by those who make the laws and customs of the State and Nation than any other. With a solid, intelligently managed union, the small farmer could have the laws just as he might choose to shape them. He wouldn't be rich in the common acceptation of the term; but he would come nearer than any other representative of a great body could possibly come to having all he needed, and he would have an organization in comparison with which all other so-called great organizations, either of labor or capital, would seem ridiculously insignificant.—Wilkesbarre (Pa.) Leader.

Heading Off a Prairie Fire.

A courier on a foaming mustang, followed by a herd of stampeding animals, has announced the coming of the fire, miles to windward, perhaps before even its smoke is visible. At the word "Fire!" every man on the settlement drops his work, catches his horse, seizes water buckets, blankets, ropes, cans of kerosene oil, plows, and whatever else may be of use in fighting the fire, and, throwing these into a wagon, dashes off to meet the danger. The probable course of the fiery cyclone being ascertained, a large force of men begin plowing a strip of land directly across it, for a "fire-break." Sometimes half a dozen plows, with four or more horses to each, are put simultaneously to work, turning up furrows with desperate energy.

On the windward or exposed side of this fire-break a counter fire is started by means of the ropes saturated with kerosene. This creeps along at a comparatively slow pace against the wind, to meet the greater one, which comes surging along, preceded by a scorching, furnace-like breath and a dense shower of gray ashes. On the other side of the plowed strip, toward the ranches, the grass is drenched with water, and men stand ready with wet blankets to put out the flying sparks as they alight. The rush of the approaching mass of flame and smoke is terrific. It fairly leaps ahead, 100 feet at a time, hissing, snapping and roaring as if it were laying low a forest. Suddenly it meets the back fire. The two rush together in a great billow of flame, which rises high in the air and goes out in dense black clouds of smoke. The tornado is checked, and the ranchers are saved.

This is what takes place when the work of the prairie firemen is successful. Sometimes, however, the flames, checked in front, rally and spread out anew at the sides, and continue their destructive course over more miles of prairie, until stopped by some river or desert place.—Frank Leslie's Illustrated.

IMMISCH'S thermometer depends for its action upon the opening and closing of a minute volute Bourdon tube, filled with an expansive liquid and hermetically sealed. The rest of the mechanism is similar to that of the well-known Bourdon spring steam-gauges, only much more delicate. On the thermometers for clinical use the divisions of the scale gradually widen from near blood heat and beyond, to permit of fractions of degrees being read off accurately. These instruments excel in sensitiveness, accuracy, non-liability to breakage, and facility of repair. The tube is practically a very flexible spring with a positive motion dependent upon the expansion of the contained liquid, which is a constant quantity, whatever its varying volume may be at different temperatures. That is to say, as the tube is absolutely full, it must of necessity always accommodate its form to the volume, and these changes of form correctly indicate the temperature. Upward of five hundred of these thermometers have been tested at the Royal Observatory (England)—the clinical instruments giving the remarkable results of perfect accuracy at 66 per cent. of the points tested, and of no error greater than one-fifth of a degree at any point.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Reciting Our Catechism.

Question:—How are you satisfied with your last fall's business?

Answer:—Exceedingly well. Our sales have been very heavy in both Furniture and Carpets, and show an increase of 25 per cent. over last year.

Question:—What is the outlook for spring?

Answer—There will be an advance in some kind of goods. The rise in wool has caused an advance in Ingrain and Body Brussels Carpets of 5 cents a yard. Our Carpets for the spring trade we have already purchased, and we have thus avoided the advance. It will give us a great advantage over our competitors this spring. The styles are the most beautiful ever turned out of our carpet rooms.

Question:—What will be the prevailing figures?

Answer:—Mosaic and geometric figures are still the favorites, but many rich carpets, in dark blue or rich brown ground-work, are shown where the prevailing figure is a leaf or flower.

Question:—How about borders?

Answer:—They are never so popular. No manufacturer thinks of bringing out a new Carpet now without a border to match. The only Carpet store in Fort Wayne that will have borders to match all carpets will be ours.

Question:—What will be the prevailing woods in Furniture?

Answer:—Antique Oak, a most beautiful and desirable wood is the rage, but Mahogany finished goods still hold their own. Walnut will of course be used, but will not be the favorite with fashionable people. We shall keep a full line of all these woods, so that our customers may have their choice.

Question:—When will your spring stock commence to arrive?

Answer:—It has already commenced coming. We always aim to be the first to show new things.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

BIG FEES FOR DOCTORS.

A Patient Who Paid $7,000 for the Cure of a Cold—Money in a Night-Cap.

The incomes of the three leading physicians and those of the three leading lawyers are about equal—that is to say, at the rate of about $60,000 a year each, says a London correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. The largest sum ever earned in one year by a doctor was $100,000, made by Sir Astley Cooper. The three men at the head of the medical profession in England at the present day are Sir William Jenner, the court physician; Sir William Gull, and Sir Andrew Clark. Just lately the last-named has obtained considerable notoriety. He was induced to visit a very wealthy lady at Nice, and he received the unprecedented fee of $25,000. One-fifth of this amount he retained as a remuneration for his services and the remainder he divided between two charitable institutions connected with his profession.

Speaking of fees, there is a tale told of a rich colonial gentleman living in Kent who had the misfortune to take a slight cold. Not satisfied with his local medical attendant, he desired to have Gull down from London in consultation. Gull happened to be away and Sir William Jenner came instead. He was duly paid his fee $375 for the visit. The patient, feeling no better, then sent to Edinburgh to a leading doctor of that city, who traveled the 400 miles in order to see him and in ordinary course received a guinea for every mile—that was 400 guineas, or $2,100. Again the patient felt no better, and this time Gull was summoned and attended.

"I suppose," suggested the local practitioner, "you will pay Gull what you paid Jenner—£75."

"Nonesense," indignantly retorted the sick gentleman, "I am not going to pay Gull less than I gave the Scotchman," and he drew a check for $2,100. Before he got rid of his cold he had paid $7,000 in fees.

Gull himself relates a story of an eccentric patient, upon whom in the days when chloroform or ether was never used, he performed a difficult operation, from which the old gentleman recovered. But he refused to pay Gull his fees, and, as the doctor left the bedroom in an enraged state, the old man snatched off his night-cap, and, flinging it at him, cried: "Take that; I'll give you nothing more."

Gull picked up the night-cap, and, cooling down in his brougham, he commenced to rip up the lining. Concealed therein he found a crisp Bank of England note for £1,000. This story, by the way, has also been told of several other eminent doctors. Gull began life in an humble way as assistant to a hospital lecturer at 35 shillings per week. When admitted to practice his first year's fees amounted to $135, but he himself says that each year they increased by one-third. He is a man of dry humor. Once the Bishop of Derry consulted him, and the great doctor gravely said:

"You must go to Nice, my lord."

"Oh, I can't go to Nice; I'm too busy."

"It must be either Nice or heaven," was the doctor's retort.

"Oh, then," quickly added the divine, "I'll go to Nice."

"I will not question your judgment," replied Gull. "As a right-reverend prelate you ought to know which is the preferable place."

Sir Andrew Clark is Gladstone's physician. He accompanied him on the cruise the premier took with Tennyson, and again last year to Norway. He does not do this as a personal tribute but as a matter of professional duty. Mr. Gladstone is very testy, faddy, and autocratic. Clark is equally firm. Lady Clark is quite incensed when Gladstone orders her husband to spend with him those two months of the year when the great physician is accustomed to have most leisure. It is said that Jenner and Gull are chosen to attend royal patients in preference to Clark because the latter is so closely identified with Gladstone.

The Wealthiest Tribe of Indians.

The Osage is the wealthiest tribe of Indians in the United States. This is due not so much to their personal ability as financiers as to a succession of favorable circumstances and to the good guardianship of the United States Government. The Osages, long years ago, occupied the country about St. Louis. They were removed from there to a reservation at Westport, Mo., near Kansas City; then to the valley of the Neosho, then to a reservation in southern Kansas, and finally to their present home in Indian Territory. The Osages were a powerful tribe, and to get them off coveted lands Uncle Sam seems to have been willing to pay them more liberally than other wards of the nation. In this way the Osages have come into their present possessions, which include a tract of land in Indian Territory fifty miles square, or about 1,500,000 acres and an annuity of $250,000. This is the interest on United States bonds given them in exchange for their former lands in Kansas and Missouri, and held in trust by the Government, which pays the annuity in semi-annual payments. There are about 400 families, averaging about four to a family—a total of about 1,600 people. Out of this interest fund the Indians draw $165 a year for each man, woman, and child—so that the larger his family the more the head of the family is enabled to draw. This system would apparently foster a rapid increase of population, but, strange to say, the full-blood Indians are decreasing in numbers. The full-blood families are small and the tribe is doomed to extinction. This is probably due to two causes—the changed physical condition of their life and the loss of all ambition as a race. — Burlington Hawkeye.

Life Distribution.

In his presidential address to the British Association, on the geology of the Atlantic, Sir J. W. Dawson mentioned two curious paradoxes concerning the difficult problem of the distribution of life over the earth: First, the chances of the wide distribution of marine species are not exceptionally great, as might be inferred, for the reason that the great depths of the sea have been found to be as impassable to most marine animals as the land itself. Second, the deep sea, which is so great a barrier to the passage of shallow-water animals, seems actually, under certain conditions, to afford facilities for the migrations of land animals and plants, greater than those of unbroken continents.

A Little Parable.

There is a great deal of human nature in dogs. The dog on the French man-of-war was so savage he used to bark at the boys as they went ashore with his head out of a port-hole. They would go as near as they could, punch him, spatter him with water from the oars, taunt him to fury. One day he seized the oar with his teeth and was pitched overboard. The dog was not a good swimmer, the tide was running first. He looked so sorry, as he turned his head towards them, that my father said:

"Let's go back and pick him up."

Wasn't that dog glad! He wagged his tail, showed his gratitude, and was humble in his mien until he reached his own planks once more. Then he bristled up, and began showing his teeth worse than before.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. RED STAR COUGH CURE

NO OPIATES, NO POISON.

SAFE, PROMPT, SURE.

Could not Speak and Cured.

19 13th St., San Francisco, Cal.
A short time ago I contracted a severe cold, became so hoarse I could not speak. Tried a number of remedies, without obtaining the slightest relief. The efforts of two physicians failed to help me. Was induced to try Red Star Cough Cure, and one bottle cured me. F. RENTSCHLER.

Three Children Cured of Croup.

My three children have during the whole of this winter been suffering with croup, but now I can safely assert that they have been entirely cured, by using two bottles Red Star Cough Cure. Will not be without a bottle. WM. I. BOWEN.

Cured the Minister's Baby.

The wife of Rev. H. H. Washburn, rector of St. Barnabas Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., says her sixteen months old child suffering with a severe cold, which had held on for weeks, was given Red Star Cough Cure. Four doses loosened and relieved the cough. It further use effected a complete cure.

Coughed 10 Years and Cured.

Mr. Luke Brosseau, livery stable keeper, Charlotte, Michigan, writes that for ten years he suffered from a cough, which nothing would remove. At last he used Red Star Cough Cure, and its efficacy was so swift and magical that he pronounces it the greatest ever known.

THE NEW QUININE. KASKINE.

Science emerging from Darkness.

WHAT THE PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT IT FOR RHEUMATISM, MALARIA, DYSPEPSIA, NERVORS DEBILITY, LIVER, LUNG AND KIDNEY DISEASES.

The eminent and celebrated Dr. Glessner writes:

The Kaskine Co.—DEAR SIRS.—"The first greatest successes I had with Kaskine were in chills and fever, malaria, nervous debility, rheumatism, dyspepsia, and liver diseases and I considered at that time it undoubtedly was the best medicine ever discovered, but I was even then unfamiliar with its really wonderful powers in curing all the other germ diseases and disorders, particularly where the blood had become diseased or impoverished and the digestion impaired. Strictly speaking Kaskine is the only blood purifier we have. I use it also very largely with unfailing success in all diseases peculiar to women and children. In over 300 cases I have cured there has never been the slightest bad effect following its use, and it is far superior to any tonic or nerve medicine ever known to the medical profession." Very truly yours,

Prof. W. F. Holcombe, M. D., 54 East 25th St., N. H., (late Prof. in N. Y. Med. College) writes: "Kaskine is superior to quinine in its specific power, and never produces the slightest injury to the hearing or constitution."

The U. S. Examining Surgeon, Dr L. R. White, writes: "Kaskine is the best medicine made."

Bellevue Hospital, N. Y.:—"Universally successful."

Kaskine is pleasant to take and can be used without special medical counsel.

The construction of the law regarding liability of corporations or persons for injuries sustained by their employes by the supreme court of this state has always been that there was no liability in cases where one employe was injured through the carelessness and negligence of another. The revival work continues with growing power at the Wayne street M. E. church. The meeting last night was the most wonderful of the series. The altar was crowded with seekers. The greater number of the cigars were manufactured in Fort Wayne and so it is with the beer, showing to what an extent the luxuries are indulged in and what big money is paid by the consumers

Representative Gross has introduced a bill to erect a soldiers' and sailors' monument at Indianapolis at a cost of $200,000. Several gentlemen have prepared and will offer amendments to the bill. A scheme is on foot to pass a bill through both houses providing for the sale of University park, which is the property of the state and would realize about $600,000. Of this sum $400,000 can be applied to relieving the present necessities of the state. The remaining $200,000 will then be divided into five sums of $40,000 each and these several amounts will be appropriated to erect a soldiers' and sailors' monument at each of the following named cities: Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Lafayette, Vincennes and New Albany. It is a slick scheme if it will only work. The Marion county members will fight it teeth and toenail.

The meeting of the Fort Wayne Business Men's exchange last evening was called to order soon after 8, by President White. Captain White urged perseverance in all the objects of the organization and called the attention of the members to several points in the securing of free gravel roads, and how the cooperation of the city council could be secured, also the leading tax payers. It was the city that brought the railroads here, the county never acted, and the city can bring the free gravel roads. It is the first step, and the one great step this Business Men's exchange has in view. Mr. Alex Lauferty desired the amount and value of shares of stock in the association, or the initiation fee fixed and moved that it be $10 per share of stock. This was adopted and the financial secretary with a committee was directed to call on the 109 signers of the plan of organization, and collect the $10 per share and issue receipts therefor. Another meeting will be had Friday night.

The six months old child of Constable Case died a few days ago and Dr. M. F. Porter and others made a post mortem investigation to ascertain the cause of death. They are making microscopical examinations but have not yet determined on the nature of the fatal ailment and there is some gossip about the advent of the child, being a surprise to Mr. Case, who was only married last August.

The circuit court jury came in at noon with a verdict sentencing Alvin Nelson, alias Prof. Slate, to five years in prison for a murderous assault on Mrs. C. M. France at Bluffton. The case came here for trial on a change of venue and was severely prsecuted, Mrs. France being the mother Ex-Prosecuting Attorney John T. France, of Adams and Wells counties. Nelson is a sort of a crank, having served four or five terms in the penitentiary, his last engagement expiring not over a year ago.

The police have exercised a vigilant surveilance over the gaming rooms and bagnios but find no offenders. Nellie Hines has sent her maids to the Bootjack, a sort of branch resort, and the sheriff will give that joint his attention. If the gaming hells and dens of vice are closed many a household will realize that there is more money in the pockets of a good many men for household necessities. No one can calculate what money is wasted in pursuit of the vices enumerated above.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Colerick observed the crystal anniversary of their marriage last evening by throwing open to their relatives and most intimate friends the doors of their pleasant home on East Main street. Quite a party assembled to offer congratulations and participate in the gay festivities of the occasion. A superb luncheon was served and an exceedingly pleasant time is reported. The gifts to the host and hostess were many and withal costly and substantial, everything being indicative of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Colerick are held.

This morning Wm. Irwin, a farmer, arrived here from Bourbon. Accompanying him was Jefferson Smith, a man apparently forty years old, with a black beard and a white hat, giving him the air of a cowboy. The gentlemen put up at the Robinson house, and the sequel of their visit is interesting. Smith, who says he hails from Arizona, called on Mr. Irwin a day or two ago, and, supposing him to be a former partner, related how he came all the distance to settle up mining property out in that country. Mr. Irwin was not the partner, but Mr. Smith insisted on telling him that he brought a huge lump of gold with him and proposed to surprise his old companion with it. Irwin reads and tumbled to the stranger's racket, which was no less than a trick to swindle the countryman on the old brick dust game. While Smith drove out to the Indian reserve after his "gold," this morning, Mr. Irwin notified Marshal Meyer and the officer hustled the rascal out of town.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH

A Cry of Fire in a London Theatre Causes a Panic and Seventeen People are Killed.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A frightful accident happened in this city last evening. The Hebrew dramatic club gave an entertainment at a theatre in Princess street, Spitalfield, which was attended by about 500 persons, mostly Jews. Some one in the gallery, doubtless for a joke, shouted "fire." The gas wrs immediately turned off at the metre and a terrible panic ensued. People rushed in a solid mass for the doors and numbers were trodden under feet. When the panic subsided it was found that twelve women and five youth had been trampled to death in the attempt to escape and many others were injured.

NOTWITHSTANDING that Philadelphia is a city of morality and brotherly love, she encourages knockout to a greater extent than any other city in the Union. There are half a dozen places where boxing-matches occur every night, and there is no interferance by the authorities, no matter how hard they slug. The police reason that, as long as a principal can quit when he wills, if he is a mind to stand up and be slugged it is his own affair.

INTER-STATE TRADE.

A Talk With President Hughart, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway, on the Inter-State Commerce Bill—Its Effect on the Road in Which the City Has $100,000.

"What have you to say about the inter-state commerce bill?" was asked by a reporter of President Hughart, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, who has just returned from a pleasant visit to Florida.

"The bill, should it become a law, as it probably will," said Mr. Hughart, "will be far reaching in its results on railroads and business. If the regulation in regard to the long and short haul means that the railroads must charge a stated price per ton per mile, regardless of the distance freight is transported, it cannot help but have a depressing effect upon the jobbing business of the country. For instance, we charge the lumber jobber seven mills per ton per mile to carry lumber from Grand Rapids to Cincinnati, a distance of 308 miles, but we could not afford to carry lumber at any such rate to a place six miles distant. The result will be that we will be compelled to charge the jobber who has a long haul a higher rate to compensate us for carrying for the jobber who has a small haul at a lower rate. In other words, the man who has a large business in which competition is sharp will be compelled to help pay the freight of the man who has a small business in which there is little or no competition. The Grand Rapids and Indiana will be quite seriously affected, because we have to compete in the summer with lake transportation; and if we cannot get the benefit of the long haul, it will be impossible for us to meet the competition without jeopardizing the interests of our shippers. Some of the advocates of the bill claim that the proper construction of the provisions regarding the long and short haul is that the railroads must not make a larger charge for a short haul than for a long one. So you see it is rather difficult to discuss the question intelligently."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 19.—A compromise has been reached by which Senator Smith will preside over the joint convention, but Speaker Sayre will hold the gavel. The convention is now in session and nominating speeches are being made.

Senator Huston nominated General Harrison and was seconded by General Griffiths. Representative Niblack nominated Mr. Turpie. Representative Glover nominated Mr. Allen and was seconded by Mr. Robinson.

During the morning Lieutenant Governor Elect Robertson appeared in the house closely followed by Sheriff King and three deputies who kept a close watch for the purpose of preventing any violation of the restraining order granted by Judge Ayres.

FIRST BALLOT.

3 p. m.—The first ballot resulted:—Senate—Harrison, 18, Turpie 32.

In the house—Harrison 53, Turpie 43, Allen 4.

Total—Turpie 75, Harrison 71, Allen 4.

Another ballot will be taken, the joint convention refusing by a vote of 76 to 74, to adjourn.

SECOND BALLOT AND ADJOURNMENT.

3:30 p. m.—The second ballot showed no change and the convention adjourned until to-morrow.

Seventy-six are necessary to a choice, and as the Allen men declare their determination to fight it out on this line if it takes all winter, it will be seen that the prospect for an immediate election is not flattering.

THE VOTING YESTERDAY.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the senatorial question was taken up separately. In the house Mr. Gardner nominated Senator Harrison, Mr. Kellison nominated Judge Turpie, Mr. Robinson nominated J. E. Allen, (E. of L.) The vote resulted: Harrison, 53; Turpie, 43; Allen, 4. Those voting for Allen were Glover, Cates, Mackey (republicans), and Robinson, (democrat). In the senate, at 4 o'clock, Senator Harrison was nominated by Mr. Huston, Judge Turpie was nominated by Mr. Sellers and seconded by Mr. McDonald, of Allen. The vote stood: Harrison, 18; Turpie, 32.

SENATOR MCDONALD'S SEAT.

Senator Campbell presented a resolution setting forth that the constitution provides for the election of fifty senators; that at the same time when Col. Robertson was voted for as lieutenant governor, Col. J. B. McDonald was elected joint senator from Whitley and Allen counties, when Eli Brown was a hold-over senator from the counties, therefore the constitution had been violated and there are really fifty-one state senators. Senator Brown referred to is the postmaster at Columbia City, having been appointed to such office and having served as such officer nearly two years. He has never presented his resignation as senator. The resolutions were referred to the judiciary committee and when the senate reassembled yesterday afternoon, Senator Sellers, from the judiciary committee, reported in favor of indefinitely postponing the resolution relating to the seat of Colonel McDonald, of Whitley and Allen. The report was agreed to.

The democrats protested against certain rulings of the speaker and stopped the proceedings by yelling at the top of their voices. Threats were made to run the speaker from the chair. While the yelling continued pages were sent in all directions to bring in absent democrats. Finally when all the absentees were brought in the noise ceased and Walters, democrat, was declared entitled to the seat and was immediately sworn in.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The two houses of the legislature met in joint convention and balloted for United States senator. It resulted: Miller, 48; Morton, 33; Hiscock, 11; Weed, 61. Adjourned until to-morrow.

AN EXPLOSION

Of Dynamite in a Miner's Trunk Wrecks a Car and Injures the Baggage Master.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 19.—The baggage car attached to the New York limited express which arrived here at 10:30 last night, was almost blown to pieces by dynamite or some other terrible explosive, a few miles east of Altoona, Pa. Baggagemaster Harry Mingen was pretty badly hurt. The trunk was put on the train at Duncannon, near Harrisburg, and was checked through to Pittsburg. Mingus was arranging the trunks in the car. He picked up a small ordinary trunk and threw it on top of some other baggage. An explosion followed which lifted the top off the car as though it was made of paper and scattered the fragements in all directions. The owner of the trunk was arrested when he presented his check. He said he was a Hungarian coal miner and that his name was John Kingman. He came from Hazelton in search of work and strenuously denied there was any explosive in the trunk.

THWARTED LOVE.

The Cook County Sheriff Says Miss Van Zandt Shall Not Marry Spies.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 19.—Sheriff Matson positively refuses to allow the marriage of Spies, the condemned anarchist, and Nina Van Zandt to take place. He says: "I am surprised that her parents have even permitted the girl to visit the jail and much more that they would consent to let her wed in prison and that they will not attempt to save their own child from the never ending shame and disgrace. I shall see that she is at least given a chance to look before she leaps. Spies is my prisoner and as such is entitled only to such privileges or liberties as I may think proper to give him. The only person to whom I am obliged to allow access to him is his lawyer."

Miss Van Zandt, the young lady, appeared quite indifferent when told of the sheriff's decision but refused to be interviewed on the subject. She was refused access to Spies this morning.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 19, 1887.

THERE is no wealth but life. Life, including all its powers of love, of joy, and of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; and that man is richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest hopeful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.

MME. BOUCICAUT, of the Bon Marche, Paris, has given her employes, outright, a pension fund of over $1,000,000. This fund is available to all who have been in her service twenty years, provided the men are at least 50 and the women 45 years old, and not among the shareholders of the establishment. Mme. Boucicaut has in addition paid the fee which the State charges on legacies, amounting to nearly $140,000.

A MELBOURNE, circular says the wheat crop promises to be a six-bushel average in South Australia and is a complete failure in the Queensland district, the rust having destroyed all hope of a yield. In the north of Australia the crop will run from thirty-five or forty bushels to the acre on a small area of irrigated land, while on dry land the yield will be only about four bushels to the acre. This is an enormous difference, and may well be supposed to furnish a powerful argument in favor of the artificial watering which has already worked such wonders in the Rocky Mountain districts of this country and the further West. The uncertainty of the rainfall in Australia appears to be the great drawback of the country to the agriculturist.

IT is found that walls laid up of good, half-burned bricks, in mortar composed of good lime and sharp sand, will resist a pressure of 1,500 pounds per square inch, or 216,000 pounds per square foot, at which figures it would require 1,600 feet highth of 12-inch wall to crush the bottom courses, allowing 135 pounds as the weight of each cubic foot. It also appears from accurate calculations and measurement that walls laid up in the same quality of brick and mortar, with one-third quantity of Portland cement added to the same, are capable of resisting some 2,500 pounds per square inch, or 360,000 per square foot; this would require a height of wall 2,700 feet to crush the bottom bricks.

THE St. Petersburg Journal publishes a list of the number of doctors in Europe. Great Britain is worse off than one might have thought, judging by the length and frequency of doctors' bills. For the 35,000,000 of inhabitants there are only 25,810 medical men, that is to say, 1 to every 1,350 inhabitants. In France there is a physician to every 1,470 individuals. In Austria, Germany and Norway we find 1 doctor to every 1,500; in the United States of America 1 to every 600, while Russia is very badly served, there being but 1 doctor to every 6,220 people. The total number of doctors among the Russians is not above 15,000; even to reach the level of England 63,000 would be required.

THE Atlanta Constitution says that "the trouble with the domestic wine that has supplanted whisky in Atlanta is its procrastination. It puts off until to-morrow the drunk it should bring to-day. Few things are quicker on the trigger than the whisky with which Atlanta was wont to whoop herself up. It made you drunk with promptness and exactness. The domestic wine, on the other hand, is vague and uncertain. 'You don't know when to take it on,' said a moderate drinker. 'If you load up on Saturday night, it's just as apt as not to tangle you up in church on Sunday. I comprehended a bottle the other day, and I went to dine with my wife's mother the next day. Don't you think, the fool thing took hold of me right there, and I had to prop myself to keep from sliding under the table. When a man loads up with this domestic wine he oughtn't to make an engagement until it has had its drunk out. It may wait a week, but it is dead sure to trip you up before it gives up.'"

On Getting Rich.

Every now and again some wiseacre undertakes a sermon to the workingmen in which it set forth, with a good deal of elaboration of detail, and supported by numerous "practical" illustrations, that it is possible for every man, if he be industrious and thrifty, to get into business and achieve competence for himself. The intention is to say, though they do not say it exactly in that way, that it is possible for every man to be rich. One of the leading citizens of the town will die, John Jones, for instance. The local papers will have fulsome eulogies. It will be told how he originated from "poor but respectable" parents, worked on a farm, or did odd jobs for the neighbors, saved his money, opened a little grocery store, carried in three bushels of clover seed or barrels of flour, and toted the goods round to the customers himself rather than go to the expense of hiring a man to do it for him. How he thus accumulated his first few hundred dollars. How one of his customers got in debt to him for several hundred. How he compromised by taking half the customer's farm. How coal was subsequently discovered underlying the farm. How he sold it for $15,000 hard cash. And so forth, and so forth, and so forth!

This is but one of the variations of the same old story, and the telling it is always accompanied by the same advice that what the eminent deceased did in those ways it is possible for each and every man to do. But what a howling absurdity it is! To be sure the great majority of men are not thrifty. They are industrious. They must be to live. But they are careless in their expenditures, within a certain range. Suppose they were not. Then not half so many of the others would become rich. The recklessness of the many is the chief factor in the construction of the fortunes of the few. That is, if it can be called reckless for a man to prefer to surround himself and his family with such comforts as his means affords, rather than pinch and stint, with the hope of some day having enough to buy his neighbor's property at forced sale at half its value, and sell it to the other man with more money than wit who comes along, for twice what it is worth.

There can only be so many rich, and to make and keep them rich others must remain poor. There can only be so many bankers and grocers and dry goods men. If the number of either comes to exceed the demand, some will be crushed out, and it is not always the least wise or the least deserving that meet that misfortune. The fact is there are too many men in such business and in all businesses now. There are even too many mechanics and factory and mine workers for the manner in which the business of the country as a whole is managed. The only one class of which there are not too many are the small farmers. Of these there are never too too many. So long as the stock of small farms hold out there can be no excess of small farmers. Farming the small farm is the basis and best of all business. It is the business the law should do the most to encourage, particularly in a country with so lavish an endowment of rich soil, unequaled anywhere in the world, as this country possesses. And, strangely enough, though the small farmers are sufficiently numerous in the country to outvote all the rest of us, if they saw fit, they are less deferred to by those who make the laws and customs of the State and Nation than any other. With a solid, intelligently managed union, the small farmer could have the laws just as he might choose to shape them. He wouldn't be rich in the common acceptation of the term; but he would come nearer than any other representative of a great body could possibly come to having all he needed, and he would have an organization in comparison with which all other so-called great organizations, either of labor or capital, would seem ridiculously insignificant.—Wilkesbarre (Pa.) Leader.

Reading Off a Prairie Fire.

A courier on a foaming mustang, followed by a herd of stampeding animals, has announced the coming of the fire, miles to windward, perhaps before even its smoke is visible. At the word "Fire!" every man in the settlement drops his work, catches his horse, seizes water buckets, blankets, ropes, cans of kerosene oil, plows, and whatever else may be of use in fighting the fire, and, throwing these into a wagon, dashes off to meet the danger. The probable course of the fiery cyclone being ascertained, a large force of men begin plowing a strip of land directly across it, for a "fire-break." Sometimes half a dozen plows, with from four to more horses to each, are put simultaneously to work, turning up furrows with desperate energy.

On the windward or exposed side of this fire-break a counter fire is started by means of the ropes saturated with kerosene. This creeps along at a comparatively slow pace against the wind, to meet the greater one, which comes surging along, preceded by a scurrying, furnace-like breath and a dense shower of gray ashes. On the other side of the plowed strip, toward the ranches, the grass is drenched with water, and men stand ready with wet blankets to put out the flying sparks as they alight. The rush of the approaching mass of flame and smoke is terrific. It fairly leaps ahead, 100 feet at a time, hissing, snapping and roaring as if it were laying low a forest. Suddenly it meets the back fire. The two rush together in a great billow of flame, which rises high in the air and goes out in dense black clouds of smoke. The tornado is checked, and the ranchers are saved.

This is what takes place when the work of the prairie firemen is successful. Sometimes, however, the flames, checked in front, rally and spread out anew at the sides, and continue their destructive course over more miles of prairie, until stopped by some river or desert place.—Frank Leslie's Illustrated.

IMMISEN'S thermometer depends for its action upon the opening and closing of a minute volute Bourdon tube, filled with an expansive liquid and hermetically sealed. The rest of the mechanism is similar to that of the well-known Bourdon spring steam-gauges, only much more delicate. On the thermometers for clinical use the divisions of the scale gradually widen from near blood heat and beyond, to permit of fractions of degrees being read off accurately. These instruments excel in sensitiveness, accuracy, non-liability to breakage, and facility of repair. The tube is practically a very flexible spring with a positive motion dependent upon the expansion of the contained liquid, which is a constant quantity, whatever its varying volume may be at different temperatures. That is to say, as the tube is absolutely full, it must of necessity always accommodate its form to the volume, and these changes of form correctly indicate the temperature. Upward of five hundred of these thermometers have been tested at the Royal Observatory (Eng'and)—the clinical instruments giving the remarkable results of perfect accuracy as to per cent. of the points tested, and of no error greater than one-fifth of a degree at any point.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, manifests itself in running sores, pimples, eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged glands, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. J. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Veraco, Ohio.

Reciting Our Catechism.

Question:—How are you satisfied with your last fall's business?

Answer:—Exceedingly well. Our sales have been very heavy in both Furniture and Carpets, and show an increase of 25 per cent. over last year.

Question:—What is the outlook for spring?

Answer:—There will be an advance in some kind of goods. The rise in wool has caused an advance in Ingrain and Body Brussels Carpets of 5 cents a yard. Our Carpets for the spring trade we have already purchased, and we have thus avoided the advance. It will give us a great advantage over our competitors this spring. The styles are the most beautiful ever turned out of our carpet rooms.

Question:—What will be the prevailing figures?

Answer:—Mosaics and geometric figures are still the favorites, but many rich carpets, in dark blue or rich brown ground-work, are shown where the prevailing figure is a leaf or flower.

Question: How about borders?

Answer:—They are never so popular. No manufacturer thinks of bringing out a new Carpet now without a border to match. The only Carpet store in Fort Wayne that will have borders to match all carpets will be ours.

Question:—What will be the prevailing woods in Furniture?

Answer:—Antique Oak, a most beautiful and desirable wood in the rage, but Mahogany finished goods still hold their own. Walnut will of course be used, but will not be the favorite with fashionable people. We shall keep a full line of all these woods, so that our customers may have their choice.

Question:—When will your spring stock commence to arrive?

Answer:—It has already commenced coming. We always aim to be the first to show new things.

BIG FEES FOR DOCTORS.

A Patient Who Paid $7,000 for the Cure of a Cold—Money in a Night-Cap.

The incomes of the three leading physicians and those of the three leading lawyers are about equal—that is to say, at the rate of about $60,000 a year each, says a London correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. The largest sum ever earned in one year by a doctor was $100,000, made by Sir Astley Cooper. The three men at the head of the medical profession in England at the present day are Sir William Jenner, the court physician; Sir William Gull, and Sir Andrew Clark. Just lately the last-named has obtained considerable notoriety. He was induced to visit a very wealthy lady at Nice, and he received the unprecedented fee of $25,000. One-fifth of this amount he retained as a remuneration for his services and the remainder is divided between two charitable institutions connected with his profession.

Speaking of fees, there is a tale told of a rich colonial gentleman living in Kent who had the misfortune to take a slight cold. Not satisfied with his local medical attendant, he desired to have Gull down from London in consultation. Gull happened to be away and Sir William Jenner came instead. He was duly paid his fee $375 for the visit. The patient, feeling no better, then sent to Edinburgh to a leading doctor of that city, who traveled the 400 miles in order to see him and in ordinary course received a guinea for every mile—that was 400 guineas, or $2,100. Again the patient felt no better, and this time Gull was summoned and attended.

"I suppose," suggested the local practitioner, "you will pay Gull what you paid Jenner—$75."

"Nonesense," indignantly retorted the sick gentleman, "I am not going to pay Gull less than I gave the Scotchman," and he drew a check for $2,100. Before he got rid of his cold he had paid $7,000 in fees.

Gull himself relates a story of an eccentric patient, upon whom in the days when chloroform or ether was never used, he performed a difficult operation, from which the old gentleman recovered. But he refused to pay Gull his fees, and, as the doctor left the bedroom in an enraged state, the old man snatched off his night-cap, and, flinging it at him, cried: "Take that; I'll give you nothing more."

Gull picked up the night-cap, and, cooling down in his brougham, he commenced to rip up the lining. Concealed therein he found a crisp Bank of England note for £1,000. This story, by the way, has also been told of several other eminent doctors. Gull began life in an humble way as assistant to a hospital lecturer at 35 shillings per week. When admitted to practice his first year's fees amounted to $125, but he himself says that each year they increased by one-third. He is a man of dry humor. Once the Bishop of Derry consulted him, and the great doctor gravely said:

"You must go to Nice, my lord."

"Oh, I can't go to Nice; I'm too busy."

"It must be either Nice or heaven," was the doctor's retort.

"Oh, then," quickly added the bishop. "I'll go to Nice."

"I will not question your judgment," replied Gull. "As a right-reverend prelate you ought to know which is the preferable place."

Sir Andrew Clark is Gladstone's physician. He accompanied him on the cruise the premier took with Tennyson, and again last year to Norway. He does not do this as a personal tribute but as a matter of professionality. Mr. Gladstone is very featy, faddy, and autocratic. Clark is equally firm. Lady Clark is quite inclined when Gladstone orders her husband to spend with him those two months of the year when the great physician is accustomed to have most leisure. It is said that Jenner and Gull are chosen to attend royal patients in preference to Clark because the latter is so closely identified with Gladstone.

The Wealthiest Tribe of Indians.

The Osage is the wealthiest tribe of Indians in the United States. This is due not so much to their personal ability as financiers as to a succession of favorable circumstances and to the good guardianship of the United States Government. The Osages, long years ago, occupied the country about St. Louis. They were removed from there to a reservation at Westport, Mo., near Kansas City; then to the valley of the Neosho, then to a reservation in southern Kansas, and finally to their present home in Indian Territory. The Osages were a powerful tribe, and to get them off coveted lands Uncle Sam seems to have been willing to pay them more liberally than other wards of the nation. In this way the Osages have come into their present possessions, which include a tract of land in Indian Territory fifty miles square, or about 1,500,000 acres and an annuity of $250,000. This is the interest on United States bonds given them in exchange for their former lands in Kansas and Missouri, and held in trust by the Government, which pays the annuity in semi-annual payments. There are about 400 families, averaging about four to a family—a total of about 1,600 people. Out of this interest fund the Indians draw $165 a year for each man, woman, and child—so that the burgar his family the more the head of the family is enabled to draw. This system would apparently foster a rapid increase of population, but, strange to say, the full-blood Indians are decreasing in numbers. The full-blood families are small and the tribe is doomed to extinction. This is probably due to two causes—the changed physical condition of their life and the loss of all ambition as a race.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Life Distribution.

In his presidential address to the British Association, on the geology of the Atlantic, Sir J. W. Dawson mentioned two curious paradoxes concerning the difficult problem of the distribution of life over the earth: First, the chances of the wide distribution of marine species are not exceptionally great, as might be inferred, for the reason that the great depths of the sea have been found to be as impassable to most marine animals as the land itself. Second, the deep sea, which is so great a barrier to the passage of shallow-water species, seems actually, under certain conditions, to afford facilities for the migrations of land animals and plants, greater than those of antecedent continents.

A Little Parable.

There is a gentleness of human nature in dogs. The dog on the French man-of-war was so savage he used to bark at the boys as they went ashore with his head out of a port-hole. They would go as near as they could, patch him, spatter him with water from the nearest faucet him to fury. One day he scaled the car with his teeth and was plunged overboard. The dog was not a good swimmer, the tide was running first. It looked so sorry, as he turned his head towards them, that my father said:

"Let's go back and pick him up."

Wasn't that dog glad! He wagged his tail, showed his gratitude, and was humble in his mien until he reached his own planks once more. Then he lectured up, and began showing his teeth worse than before.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Prepared by C. I Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. THE NEW QUININE.

KASKINE.

WHAT THE PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT IT FOR RHEUMATISM, MALARIA, DYSPEPSIA, NERVOUS DEBILITY, LIVER, LUNG AND KIDNEY DISEASES.

The eminent and celebrated Dr. Glessner writes:

The Kaskine Co.—DEAR SIRS.—"The first genuine successes I had with Kaskine were in chills and fever, malaria, nervous debility, rheumatism, dyspepsia, and liver diseases and I considered at that time it undoubtedly was the best medicine ever discovered, but I was even more astonished in its really wonderful powers in curing all the other so-called ailments and disorders, particularly where the blood had become impaired or impoverished and the digestion impaired. Strictly speaking Kaskine is the only blood purifier we have. I use it in my very large practice with unfailing success in all diseases no matter how many or what children. In over 30 cases I have cured there has never been the slightest bad effect, but curing in use, and it is far superior to any tonic or nervous medicine ever known to the medical profession." Very truly yours,

Prof. W. F. Holcombe, M. D., 54 East 25th St., N. Y., late Prof. in N. Y. Med. College writes: "Kaskine is superior to quinine in its specific power, and never produces the slightest injury to the hearing or constitution."

The U. S. Examining Surgeon, Dr. J. R. White, writes: "K. skine is the best medicine we use."

St. Francis Hospital, N. Y.:—"Every patient treated with Kaskine has been discharged well."

St. Joseph's Hospital, N. Y.:—"Its use is considered indispensable. It acts nerfe tly."

On the 28th the Trotting and Pacing Horse Breeders' association will discuss the various kinds of speed horses, and on the Tuesday following the Jersey cattle breeders will hold their convention.

Representative Jewett has offered an amendment to the metropolitan police bill, making it include all cities of 20,-000 population and upwards. He says the measure is intended to cover New Albany. Mr. Jewett is respectfully informed that Fort Wayne wants no such measure, and its people, irrespective of party, protest against state politicians usurping the right of the people to locally govern themselves. What business have a lot of political tricksters, hundreds of miles away, to attempt to regulate our local police affairs? The proposition is preposterous.

Agent Fred C. Boltz tells us that five $500 prizes in the Louisiana lottery were captured here at the last drawing. The lucky ones do not want their names published because some good people look upon the winning as a sort of gambling affair.

The St. Julian council, Catholic Benovolent legion, give a reception and banquet at the Morton club rooms this evening. This society is flourishing greatly and last evening uniforms were selected for the military rank it is proposed to establish.

Last Saturday Baron Westrumb was again run into while crossing the railroad tracks, near the Bass foundry. His old horses were stalled with a load of cinders and had to be helped out of this predicament. In the Gazette this morning Mr. Minneker challenges Westrumb to a duel.

The new gas well, out on Hanna street, is down 550 feet. It was so cold Monday and Tuesday that operations had to be suspended. Yesterday Mr. C. B. Woodworth, accompanied by J. D. S. Neiley, the big Lima gas man, visited the well near Bergdorff's brewary, and Mr. Neily pronounces its flow perpetual. Mr. Woodworth expects soon to lease the flame for $1,000 a year and his company will then pipe it.

The revival work continues with growing power at the Wayne street M. E. church. The meeting last night was the most wonderful of the series. The altar was crowded with seekers. Numbers knelt in the aisles, while over the house many cried out for salvation. At least two score crowded the altar for a richer experience. There was a service of prayer, inquiry and instruction this morning, conducted by Mr. Frame. Members of all churches are being helped in these meetings, and outsiders are being reached by the power of divine truth. Prayer meeting to-night at 7 o'clock. At 7:30 Mrs. Frame will preach. Come!

Mr. George Ohneck, revenue inspector for the eleventh federal district, has prepared statistics of the cigar and beer business transacted in the second division, comprising Allen and ten other counties, during last year. Total number of cigars manufactured, 5,646,280; total number sold, 5,680,420; amount of tax collected on the sales, $21,704,183. During the year 36,968 barrels of beer were brewed and 24,495 sold, making the total tax from beer of $24,495, and a grand total of revenue collected by Uncle Sam's officers of $1,723,633. The greater number of the cigars were manufactured in Fort Wayne and so it is with the beer, showing to what an extent the luxuries are indulged in and what big money is paid by the consumers.

Representative Gross has introduced a bill to erect a soldiers' and sailors' monument at Indianapolis at a cost of $200,-000. Several gentlemen have prepared and will offer amendments to the bill. A scheme is on foot to pass a bill through both houses providing for the sale of University park, which is the property of the state and would realize about $600,000. Of this sum $400,000 can be applied to relieving the present necessities of the state. The remaining $200,000 will then be divided into five sums of $40,000 each and these several amounts will be appropriated to erect a soldiers' and sailors' monument at each of the following named cities: Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Lafayette, Vincennes and New Albany. It is a slick scheme if it will only work. The Marion county members will fight it tooth and toenail.

The meeting of the Fort Wayne Business Men's exchange last evening was called to order soon after 8, by President White. Captain White urged perseverance in all the objects of the organization and called the attention of the members to several points in the securing of free gravel roads, and how the cooperation of the city council could be secured, also the leading tax payers. It was the city that brought the railroads here, the county never acted, and the city can bring the free gravel roads. It is the first step, and the one great step this Business Men's exchange has in view. Mr. Alex Lauferty desired the amount and value of shares of stock in the association, or the initiation fee fixed and moved that it be $10 per share of stock. This was adopted and the financial secretary with a committee was directed to call on the 100 signers of the plan of organization, and collect the $10 per share and issue receipts therefor. Another meeting will be had Friday night.

The six months old child of Constable Case died a few days ago and Dr. M. F. Porter and others made a post mortem investigation to ascertain the cause of death. They are making microscopical examinations but have not yet determined on the nature of the fatal ailment and there is some gossip about the advent of the child, being a surprise to Mr. Case, who was only married last August.

The circuit court jury came in at noon with a verdict sentencing Alvin Nelson, alias Prof. Slate, to five years in prison for a murderous assault on Mrs. C. M. France at Bluffton. The case came here for trial on a change of venue and was severely prosecuted, Mrs. France being the mother Ex-Prosecuting Attorney John T. France, of Adams and Wells counties. Nelson is a sort of a crank, having served four or five terms in the penitentiary, his last engagement expiring not over a year ago.

The police have exercised a vigilant surveillance over the gaming rooms and bagnios but find no offenders. Nellie Hines has sent her maids to the Bostjack, a sort of branch resort, and the sheriff will give that joint his attention. If the gaming hells and dens of vice are closed many a household will realize that there is more money in the pockets of a good many men for household necessities. No one can calculate what money is wasted in pursuit of the vices enumerated above.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Colerick observed the crystal anniversary of their marriage last evening by throwing open to their relatives and most intimate friends the doors of their pleasant home on East Main street. Quite a party assembled to offer congratulations and participate in the gay festivities of the occasion. A superb luncheon was served and an exceedingly pleasant time is reported. The gifts to the host and hostess were many and withal costly and substantial, everything being indicative of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Colerick are held.

This morning Wm. Irwin, a farmer, arrived here from Bourbon. Accompanying him was Jefferson Smith, a man apparently forty years old, with a black beard and a white hat, giving him the air of a cowboy. The gentlemen put up at the Robinson house, and the sequel of their visit is interesting. Smith, who says he hails from Arizona, called on Mr. Irwin a day or two ago, and, supposing him to be a former partner, related how he came all the distance to settle up mining properly out in that country. Mr. Irwin was not the partner, but Mr. Smith insisted on telling him that he brought a huge lump of gold with him and proposed to surprise his old companion with it. Irwin reads and tumbled to the stranger's racket, which was no less than a trick to swindle the countryman on the old brick dust game. While Smith drove out to the Indian reserve after his "gold," this morning, Mr. Irwin notified Marshal Meyer and the officer hustled the rascal out of town.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH

A Cry of Fire in a London Theatre Causes a Panic and Seventeen People are Killed.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A frightful accident happened in this city last evening. The Hebrew dramatic club gave an entertainment at a theatre in Princess street, Spitalfield, which was attended by about 500 persons, mostly Jews. Some one in the gallery, doubtless for a joke, shouted "fire." The gas was immediately turned off at the meire and a terrible panic ensued. People rushed in a solid mass for the doors and numbers were trodden under feet. When the panic subsided it was found that twelve women and five youth had been trampled to death in the attempt to escape and many others were injured.

HOUSE.

The house of representatives yesterday passed a bill to declare forfeited the land grant of the New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Vicksburg road, and a joint resolution for an investigation of the accounts of the Pacific roads. The committee on valid pensions reported a bill increasing from $72 to $100 the allowance of soldier or sailors who have lost both arms.

At 2 o'clock to-day the house resumed consideration of the conference report on the inter-state commerce bill.

NOTWITHSTANDING that Philadelphia is a city of morality and brotherly love, she encourages knockout to a greater extent than any other city in the Union. There are half a dozen places where boxing-matches occur every night, and there is no interferance by the authorities, no matter how hard they sing. The police reason that, as long as a principal can quit when he wills, if he is a mind to stand up and be slugged it is his own affair.
